

Adam Cole

Adam Cole is currently serving as a loan officer for Horizon Farm Credit in the Chestertown office, where they cater to the financial needs of farmers and rural residents, extending beyond just agriculture.

Before joining Farm Credit, Adam held positions in commercial underwriting for small businesses, where he examined financial statements for thousands of small businesses across various industries nationwide. In addition to his professional career, he owns a lifestyle apparel brand as a small side project, which has provided him with valuable insight into the processes and requirements of starting a new business.